IMPEACHED

After a historic day of impassioned debate in the House, Donald J. Trump has become the third president in U.S. history to be impeached, charged with abuse of power and obstruction of Congress. 2

GETTY IMAGES

Both articles of impeachment passed, largely along party lines.

Donald Trump became the third U.S. president to be impeached on Wednesday, as the House of Representatives mally charged with abuse of power in a historic step that will inflame partisan tensions across a deeply divided America.

The Democratic-House passed the abuse of power article of impeachment on a largely party-line 230-197 vote. The House then proceeded with a vote on a second article of impeachment charging him with obstruction of Congress.

The House action sets the stage for a trial next month in the Republicancontrolled Senate - friendlier terrain for Trump - on whether to convict him and remove him from office. As the House voted, Trump was addressing a rally in Battle Creek, Michigan.

No president in the 243-year history of the United States has been removed from office by impeachment. That would require a two-thirds majority in the 100-member Senate, meaning at least 20 Republicans would have to join Democrats in voting against Trump and none have indicated they will.

In historic moment, U.S. House impeaches Donald Trump for abuse of power

Trump, who is seeking another four-year term in the November 2020 presidential election, has called the impeachment drive an "attempted coup" by Democrats seeking to nullify his 2106 election victory. The Senate's top Republican, Mitch McConnell, has predicted there is "no chance" his chamber will remove Trump when it holds its trial.

The first of the articles accused Trump, 73, of abusing his power by pressuring Ukraine to investigate political rival Joe Biden, a leading contender for the 2020 Democratic presidential nomination, as well as a discredited theory promoted by the president and beneficial to Russia that Democrats conspired with Ukraine to meddle in the 2016 election.

Democrats said Trump held back $391 million in security aid intended to Russia-backed separatists and a coveted White House meeting for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky as leverage to coerce Kiev into interfering in the 2020 election by smearing

The second article accuses Trump of obstruction of Congress by diadministration recting officials and agencies not to comply with lawful House subpoenas for testimony and documents related to impeachment.

Trump has denied wrongdoing and called the impeachment inquiry, launched by House Speaker Nancy Pelosi in September, a "witch hunt."

During a daylong debate before the vote, Pelosi read the U.S. Pledge of Allegiance and said: "We are here to defend democracy for the people."

If we do not act now, we would be derelict in our duty. It is tragic that the president's reckless actions make impeachment necessary," Pelosi

As the debate unfolded, Trump on Twitter called the proceedings "AN ASSAULT ON AMERI-CA" and on his party. On the House floor, Republicans accused Democrats of seeking to use an unfair, rigged process to nullify the 2016 election.

"The matter before the House today is based solely on a fundamental hatred of our president. It's a sham, a witch hunt and it's tantamount to a coup against the duly elected president of the United States," Republican Representative Mike Rogers said.

Republican Representative Mike Kelly compared the impeachment to the Japanese attack on Hawaii's Pearl Harbor in 1941, calling the House proceedings another "date that will live in infamy" - similar to the words Democratic President Franklin Roosevelt used to describe the raid that killed about 2,400 people and led to America's entry into World War

The impeachment vote comes ahead of Trump's 2020 re-election campaign, which will pit him against the winner among a field of Democratic contenders, including Biden, who have repeatedly criticized Trump's conduct in office and promised to make it a key issue.

'Rise of Skywalker' receives a lot of critical reviews

Walt Disney Co's highly anticipated "Star Wars" movie "The Rise of Skywalker" divided film critics on Wednesday, earning more detractors than any film in the saga since 1999 movie "The Phantom Menace." "Rise of Skywalker," which debuts in theaters around the globe on Thursday, is the ninth and final installment in a story begun in 1977, when George Lucas introduced a young space hero named Luke Skywalker alongside an enchanting collection of droids and otherworldly characters. On the Rotten Tomatoes website, 57 percent of 157 reviews for "Rise of Skywalker" were positive as of Tuesday morning. That ranked as the second-lowest score among the nine films, ahead of only the 53 percent for "The Phantom Menace."Reviewers who praised "Rise of Skywalker" called it a satisfying conclusion, remas

Trump proposes rule for importing drugs from Canada

The Trump administration on Wednesday said it is proposing a rule to allow states to import prescription drugs from Canada, advancing a plan announced in July that the president has said will bring cheaper prescription drugs to Americans. Importation of drugs from Canada to lower costs for U.S. consumers has been considered for years. Alex Azar, secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), called the move "a historic step forward in efforts to bring down drug prices and out-ofpocket costs." Industry trade groups in both countries opposed the plan, saying it will not lower costs and could hurt Canada's drug supplies. Groups representing pharmaceutical and biotech companies called the proposal a political gesture. REUTERS

Puerto Rico cries foul over U.S. cockfighting ban

An attempt by the U.S. Congress to ban cockfighting in Puerto Rico has set off a debate about animal cruelty, put thousands of jobs at risk and sparked a possible power struggle between the U.S. territory's government and Washington. The 500-year-old tradition of cockfighting in Puerto Rico was due to end on Friday under a law passed by Congress last year to bring the island in step with prohibition in every

U.S. state. But Puerto Rico Governor Wanda Vazquez on Wednesday signed legislation designed to allow cockfighting to continue. That could set up a conflict with U.S. federal authorities. Puerto Rican fans see cockfighting as part of their cultural heritage and say 27,000 jobs could be lost among breeders, food suppliers and others if the ban goes ahead. In Congress, the island's people have no elected voting representative. nones

Skywalker' is a great tribute to Leia" DAISY RIDLEY

"The Rise of

DISNEY

In the new film directed by J. J. Abrams, English actress Daisy Ridley plays Rey, a young woman with great physical skills, who is proud, responsible and has great leadership qualities. In 'Episode IX,' the scavenger says goodbye to Leia Organa, the Force-sensitive leading general of the Resistance, played by Carrie Fisher, who died in December 2016 and appears through the use of unreleased footage from 'The Force Awakens' and 'The Last Jedi.' Metro chatted with the 27-year-old Ridley to learn more, MARÍA ESTÉVEZ, MWN

So, the Daisy & Rey journey already lasts for 5 years.

I actually think it has been six because I started auditioning when I was 20 and I got the role when I was 21 ... it's been a while.

Did you change a lot since then? I think I'm pretty serious but also quite silly, which is a side of Rey we haven't seen yet, but there is a bit more of it in this film. I definitely don't have the struggles that Rey has, because my actions don't determine the fate of the galaxy. I do try to do the right thing, though.

I do my own stunts, so physically, I guess, we're pretty similar. I mean, I think she's great, I really love her as a character. So I think if there are any similarities, I'm thrilled with that. It's not like I'm trying to run away from that.

This role has placed you into the spotlight. It must have been hard.

It was hard, I love privacy. And then everything suddenly happened. And then my parents' names are on the internet and my sister's and my favorite meal. That was quite strange. And at the time it didn't feel that strange. And now I think, 'Oh my God, you can't take any of that back, that's just out there.' So that has been a shift. But weirdly, it has become easier, as it now comes in waves. So, it's fine. I'm also pretty strict with my boundaries.

If you could talk with

yourself from five years ago, would you say 'everything is going to be okay?'

I would say that. I also have realized I am quite a control freak. So I would say like, 'It's okay, you are still in control of yourself, your reactions. And, also, enjoy it.' Because I did enjoy it. I'm having such a great time and I wish I'd enjoyed it slightly more and got less stressed about it.

Do you experience anxiety as there is no other "Star Wars" movie now on your schedule?

There's definitely a scheduling hole in my life. I'm not doing anything after Christmas. It is fun until the film comes out. And then I'm going to ask, 'Oh, my God, what now?' I'm prepared for that.

Will you miss "Star Wars?"

Yeah. It's a great story, but I'll also really miss working with people that I really love and I felt this comfortable with. I'm very grateful for how it's been. But you just have to go on, life takes turns, you know. And I know that it's not like I'm never going to see these people ever again.

Daniel Plimpton on being home for the holidays with 'White Christmas'

Touring actors in holiday productions rarely get the chance to spend time at home during the festive season, which is why Daniel Plimpton isn't taking his role in "Irving Berlin's White Christmas" for granted.

As a Massachusetts native and Boston Conservatory alum, Plimpton is excited to be back in the Bay State as part of the musical's stop in the Hub at the Wang Theatre through Dec. 29. Not only does he have the opportunity to perform in Boston for the first time since he graduated, but he'll also be able to spend some quality time with family in the area.

"Just to be in the city where I was so educated in theater, inspired by all the local theaters there and to be performing there at such a big scale now is really special," says

Plimpton. "I think I'll be caying on opening night."

"The actor's life is a traveling life," he adds. "Anytime it coincides with being home for the holidays and performing for the holidays-that's the dream."

Having grown up just outside of Amherst in Leverett, Plimpton was raised by a family who valued the arts and encouraged his passions. Plimpton first got into community theater at the age of 5 and earned his first professional theater role at the age of 12. He took a few years off as a teen to focus on studying at a public performing arts school before attending Boston Conservatory for a "vigorous four years." Coincidentally, his college roommate is also in "White Christmas" as its tour runs in Boston this month, the perfect place to begin exploring [the arts]," says Plimpton.

"Massachusetts

As a dancer in the show, Plimpton believes that the choreography by Randy Skinner, one of the original choreographers on "42nd Street," are some of the most "spectacular" parts of "White Christmas." Plimpton says that the dancing is not just for spectacle sake, but rather something that's pure and joyful while being "stylistically accurate to the '30s and '40s in a special way that's unique for our show."

The Massachusetts performer has a special place in his heart for the show's setting as well. As an adaptation of the hit 1954 musical comedy film of the same name starring Bing Crosby, "White Christmas" retains the original's New England setting, with a picturesque Vermont inn serving as a backdrop throughout most of the story.

> better "There's place to do this musical than New England," says Plimpton, who hopes the weather in Boston will mirror the New England winter wonderland that's featured in the show. "It's pretty perfect." MATT JUUL

Pats set for monster showdown with Bills

Buffalo is still alive in the AFC East title race.

Three things to watch for as the Patriots tangle with the Bills on Saturday (4:30 p.m., WBZ/NFL Network).

Can't score, won't score

Kansas City proved two weeks ago that going into Foxboro and beating the Patriots is not impossible. The Chiefs limited the Pats to 16 points in that one, and Buffalo is more than capable of replicating that number. In fact, in the only other meeting between the Bills and Pats this year, Buffalo held New England to 16 points (a 16-10 New England win).

The problem here for the Bills is that their offense will also find it difficult to put points on the board. Buffalo's offense can't crack the 20-point mark against a good defense, let alone a Patriots D that is giving up a league-best 12.9 points per game.

The Bills have scored over 30 points in a game just twice this entire season, with both of those offensive "explosions" coming against lowly Miami.

Allen wrench

Some are labeling Bills quarterback Josh Allen as a poor man's Lamar Jackson this season. While Allen can run around a bit, he just can't make ends meet when it comes to the passing game.

Allen hasn't thrown for over 300 yards in a game this season, and the Patriots pass defense embarrassed him back in September, picking him off three times.

Allen finished that one with a hideous 24.0 passer rating, his worst mark of the 2019 season.

Signs of hope

It came against the D-listers known as the Cincinnati Bengals, but the Patriots run game finally looked halfway decent last weekend.

The Pats were at their best in the playoffs last season when Sony Michel and Rex Burkhead were alternating carries as Burkhead had 41 yards rushing against the Chiefs in the AFC title game, and 43 rushing yards against the Rams in the Super Bowl.

The Patriots need Rex Burkhead in the mix. GETTY IMAGES

Since he arrived in Foxboro in 2017, the Pats are 8-0 when Burkhead rushes for 40 yards or more.

He may be the missing piece of the puzzle to get this offense back on track, and could prove vital on Saturday.

Sharps leaning toward Buffalo

A misleading final score hid continuing issues on offense for the Pats this past Sunday. New England gained just 291 total yards on 4.6 yards-per-play. Its passing offense stumbled to a 15-29-0-128 stat line against the worst team in the NFL.

The Patriots won big due to a 5-0 advantage in turnovers. It's extremely unlikely that any playoff opponent would selfdestruct to that degree. Remember also that Cincinnati was motivated to lose, as it still leads the "race" to the No. 1 draft pick in 2020 that's virtually certain to be Heisman Trophy winner Joe Burrow.

New England controls its destiny for a playoff bye with an 11-3 record and home games remaining against Buffalo (10-4) and Miami (3-11, also motivated to lose while chasing the #2 draft pick). Winning out locks in the second seed. Baltimore (12-2) would hold a tiebreaker for the top spot over the Pats because of a head-to-head win. It's unlikely (but possible) that the Ravens would go 0-2 at Cleveland and vs. Pittsburgh.

Betting markets

opened Saturday afternoon's Bills/Patriots game (NFL Network, 4:30 p.m.) at New England -7. That was quickly bet below the key number to Pats -6.5. Sharps really like the "defensive dog" Bills getting the full seven points.

It's telling that we didn't see any immediate buy back on the Patriots. Smart bettors know New England hasn't won by more than seven against a playoff caliber opponent since the season opener vs. Pittsburgh. JETF FOGLE

December 19, 2019

Commonwealth of MA, Dept. of Housing & Community Development (DHCD) 100 Cambridge Street, Suite 300, Boston, MA 02114 • 617-573-1300

This notice shall satisfy two separate but related procedural requirements for activities to be undertaken by DHCO.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST THE RELEASE OF FUNDS

On or about January 6, 2020, DHCD will submit a request to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the release of $825,000 under the HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME) - Title II of the Cranston Gonzalez. National Affordable Housing Act of 1990, as amended, and DHCD will submit a request to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Boston Regional Office for the release of Housing Choice Voucher Program (HCVP) funds under Section 8, The Housing Act of 1937, as amended, for the purpose of attaching eight project-based vouchers to be utilized in a project known as Holtzer Park, located at 137 Amory Street in Boston, MA. The project consists of the new construction of 62 units of affordable rental housing for families. The project will use the following estimated sources of federal funds: $825,000 in HOME. Expected additional public funding includes state AHT funds, various state bond funds, local PJ HOME funds and federal and state low-income housing tax credits. The project sponsor is Urban Edge Housing Corporation.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

DHCD has determined that the project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) is not required. Additional project information is contained in the Environmental Review Record (ERR) on file at DHCD, Housing Development Division, 100 Cambridge Street, Suite 300, Boston, MA 02114 and DHCD, Public Housing and Rental Housing Assistance, 100 Cambridge Street, Suite 400, Boston, MA 02124 and may be examined or copied weekdays from 9am to 4pm.

PUBLIC COMMENTS

Any individual, group, or agency may submit written comments on the ERR to DHCD, Housing Development Division, 100 Cambridge Street Suite 300, Boston, MA 02114. All comments received by January 5, 2020 will be considered by DHCD prior to authorizing submission of a request for release of funds. Comments should specify which Notice they are addressing.

RELEASE OF FUNDS

The Commonwealth of MA acting through DHCD certifies to HUD that Catherine Racer in her capacity as Certifying Officer consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to the environmental review process and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. HUD's approval of the certification satisfies its responsibilities under NEPA and related laws and authorities, and allows the project, Holtzer Park, to use HUD program funds for the purpose specified.

OBJECTIONS TO RELEASE OF FUNDS

HUD will accept objections to its release of funds and the Commonwealth of MA's certification for a period of lifteen days following the anticipated submission date or its actual receipt of the request (whichever is later) only if they are on one of the following bases: (a) the certification was not executed by the Certifying Officer the Commonwealth of MA; (b) the Commonwealth of MA has omitted a step or failed to make a decision or finding required by HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 58; (c) the grant recipient or other participants in the project have committed funds or incurred costs not authorized by 24 CFR Part 56 before approval of a release of funds by HUD; or (d) another Federal agency acting pursuant to 40 CFR Part 1504 has submitted a written finding that the project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of environmental quality. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedures (24 CFR Part 58, Sec. 58.76) and shall be addressed to HUD at the Boston Area Office, 10 Gauseway Street, Boston, MA 02222. Potential objectors should contact the CPD Director at HUD to verify the actual last day of the objection period.
